Perfection

benevolent creation of the folk

If we remain with our confused thoughts in the past, although the experiences made there (distance!) cannot be changed anymore, we experience a loop of creation. What has happened, that can no longer be corrected. More than that, we bury ourselves in memories, that on average were 91% rather negative, according to the consciousness research in its determination of knowledge.

From the daily 80,000 average thoughts of humans, are thus, as we just learned, about 72,800 negative thoughts from the past brought into the TODAY'S CREATION, in order to be thought through again, felt, experienced and finally negatively created again, since it was mentioned, that the negativity of the past can not be turned into the positive of NOW, right...?

Yes, it can, but this requires mastery of one's mind. Let us concentrate on that first, what can be achieved simply and without detours...The remaining thoughts (about 9%) of the day are divided into about four fifths of rather negative thoughts, news and hair-raising, mostly lied reports are to blame for that, from the remainder very rarely results a feeling, that presents itself positively. That this humanity in its essence cannot exist at all, is here clearly proven. The only way out of this situation is the conversion from negative to positive creation. Playfully easy it is possible to think and feel the good, if we are good hearts/good souls.

From negatively dammed up soul content, which is mainly memories and the associated feelings of failure and despondency, arise in many cases, very serious and often diseases declared as "incurable". Whoever further supports the mental stimulus by means of bad food, for example, meat, cereals, cooked food, fruit, sugar, salt, alcohol, smoked goods, etc. will present with a so-called "terminal disease". For the pharmaceutical expenditures (hospitals/ doctors) incurable, yes, but the causal healer reacts, recognizes the root-cause of the disease and finds these in the missteps of the respective person. So the person immediately gains insight, acts according to the healer's knowledge and instructions and the so-called disease will have abandoned the energy body of the 'sick person' in no time. Is he still attached to the chemical drugs of the pharmaceutical mafia, tested on our beloved animals, all hope is immediately lost.

We can therefore sum-up:

Disease does not exist.
It only represents the opposition to divine perfection.

At this point this VOLKSBOTSCHAFT could find its end today. But, since I know about the helplessness of some parts of the readership...

HERE and NOW, never indulge in memories, at least not those, that give us a negative gut feeling is our most important task these days.

So be the good, deal exclusively with the beneficial aspects to you of this time! You want to help the Rising of the New, want to assist for the benefit of an upright folk, you be the uprightness of your environment, be loving towards all life, help to open the eyes of other examinees in this realm. It is up to you, you and of course, as always, you, to live without exception TODAY alone and to only see the best in this TODAY.

Charge yourself with emotions, that will give you goose bumps you've never experienced before! Sex contributes to this like hardly anything else, if you are working on your positive creation during it. During this extremely excited state, your mental barriers open up to your upper chakras, 8 to 12, that are assigned to your super-consciousness. If you are in this state of lack of conscious will, your work will succeed in a professionally implemented framework. You will be hardly able to doubt your work of creation, due to the high feelings experienced.

The Kamasutra uses body tensions to bring you into a form of togetherness, that give the project "holy creation" a certain new attractiveness, but in addition multiplies the energetic currents between MAN and IR. Believe me, I am not kidding, since Heimath and Folk are not a matter for racket and joke.

Be honest with each other, open up to each other, nothing is taboo in love! Talk to each other about what your secret desires are, since boring sex is indeed nothing, that man or woman would want in his experiences.

Also be HONESTLY happy in life, not faking it. This: "Dear ones, I love you all soooo much and even if you insult me, then I thank you for it and still love you soooo much that I cannot imagine anything better!" KISS ASS !!! Such falsehood is found among enemies, not among brothers and sisters. Whoever is in a rage, should give space to that rage, getting rid of the disturbing energy vortexes in his being, venting properly ones spleen, otherwise the soul one day explodes from all the negative accumulation.

Apart from that: Out with all the bad, think and feel the good ... CREATE!

The purest Trinity folk of this earth, people of the radiantly beautiful Middle Kingdom, it is up to all of us, by means of our brightest thoughts, to unleash an invincible, energetic power, that will make the great empire a little more complete, so we will soon be able to perceive in our field of experience our creation of freedom through precipitation, that has never been experienced before. But we must gain clarity about the factual security of our creation, we must all be in agreement. Illness = pathological thinking, feeling and acting. Such does not belong to our great, healing imagined vision of the future.

Listen again to the words of our pure BenniLife on the HEIMATHLIEBE channel, who does not carry the affirmation of life in his nickname without reason. To enjoy LIFE, to direct it with all the force of greatness and power to the result we desire, in this we find salvation and joy. Herein our attention of the coming weeks, months and years must be anchored. It is not without reason, that we have reached this point in our life story, it is not completely random, that we were able to destroy the original evil of 13,028 years of extortion and much worse - we were successful, since our thinking and feeling has shifted from yesterday to NOW, no longer occupied with the news of the world as it was at that time, but shaped by faith, which could never have been more holy and of higher value.

So stop the talk about yesterday's diseases, change them into today's health; stop turning to boring chat rooms, but go into the peace of your essence, close your eyes and create the best possible thing you can ever imagine! Everything is possible here, everything!

When my spiritual teacher told me years ago to devote myself to the VALUABLE creation alone, I did not know what exactly she meant. She underlined her instruction by forbidding me to create such "little things" as a third, by itself regenerating set of teeth, since two teeth of mine had already broken off during fights in certain stages of my life, for which I needed replacement. From today's point of view a tiny thing, at that time I needed a dentist, a dental technician and money. My master ignited my inner light, just through her words and her never fading faith in my power.

I gave the same positive creation to my father - a non-spiritual thinking person, after his thumb was ripped off during his hard work. His thumb, due to the unconsciousness of my father and the time that had passed, could no longer be sewn on. The good man was devastated, he had no hope for healing. Today he is again in possession of both Thumbs, a piece of cake, from his current perspective. Everything is curable, we are the creators!

Children make cola cans appear out of nowhere and these are just the little things. People see with hands or shoulders and we are caught in believes of some bullshit, yet the greatest power of this cosmos dwells in us. The creation.

But one thing must be communicated clearly:

If you feel even a hint of doubt in your omnipotence, all creation is in vain.

In Liebe und Verbundenheit.
